Wellness Specialist, Elizabeth Lesser, gives a lyrical, unexpectedly funny talk about heavy topics such as frayed relationships and the death of a loved one. She describes the healing process of putting aside pride and defensiveness to make way for soul-baring and truth telling. Why wait for a life - or - death situation to mend relationships that matter to you.

Tue, Jul 21 - Why are Drug Prices so High? Investigating the Outdated US Patent System - Priti Krishtel

Between 2006 and 2016, the number of drug patents granted in the United States doubled -- but not because there was an explosion in invention or innovation. Drug companies have learned how to game the system, accumulating patents not for new medicines but for small changes to existing ones, which allows them to build monopolies, block competition and drive prices up. Health justice lawyer Priti Krishtel sheds light on how we've lost sight of the patent system's original intent -- and offers five reforms for a redesign that would serve the public and save lives.

Tue, Aug 18 - A Path to Security for the World 's Deadliest Countries - Rachel Kleinfeld

You are more likely to die violently if you live in a middle-income democracy with high levels of inequality and political polarization than if you live in a country at war, says democracy advisor Rachel Kleinfeld. This shift in the nature of violence presents an opportunity for everyday voters to act as a great force for change in their unbalanced societies. In this eye-opening talk, Kleinfeld unravels the causes of violence and offers a path to security.

Mon, Jun 15 - Why we all need to practice emotional first aid

We'll go to the doctor when we feel flu-ish or a nagging pain. So why don't we see a health professional when we feel emotional pain: guilt, loss, loneliness? Too many of us deal with common psychological-health issues on our own, says psychologist/author Guy Winch. But we don't have to.

He makes a compelling case to practice emotional hygiene – taking care of our emotions, our minds, with the same diligence we take care of our bodies.

Mon, Jul 20 - Revelations from a lifetime of dance

"Dance can elevate our human experience beyond words," says Judith Jamison, artistic director emerita of the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater. In between performances of excerpts from Alvin Ailey's classic works Revelation and Cry, Jamison reflects on the enduring power of dance to transform history into art that thrills audiences around the world.

Mon, Aug 17 - What a nun can teach a scientist about ecology

To save the achoque -- an exotic (and adorable) salamander found in a lake in northern Mexico -- scientists teamed up with an unexpected research partner: a group of nuns called the Sisters of the Immaculate Health. In this delightful talk, science journalist Victoria Gill shares the story of how this unusual collaboration saved the achoque from extinction -- and demonstrates how local and indigenous people could hold the secret to saving our planet's weird, wonderful and most threatened species.

THE LOCAL REPORTER

The Local Reporter is a non-profit organization whose members believe that the lack of a local newspaper is detrimental to the civic health of our community. It is the mission of The Local Reporter to respond to this essential need. We want The Local Reporter to be a source of local news, a forum for public debate, and we hope to reinforce the sense of community we have been lacking.
